Speaker Biography

Brian Blackman

Brian started his business career working for a London based insurance company and has had 20 years with international risk consultancy companies, in senior management roles. Over this time he developed knowledge and experience in all facets of business risk analysis and management.

Brian established Wellnz (formerly IMNS) in 1995, seeing a need for a consultancy practice centred on assisting clients effectively manage their work injuries. The business has developed into a Human Risk Management Practice and now provides a comprehensive range of services including illness and absenteeism management, injury prevention and wellbeing initiatives.
