

OH+S

DHB Occupational Health + Safety Conference

Speaker Biography

Colin Cox

Colin is Director of Ignition Training Systems (www.ignition.org.nz) and Director of the Institute of Neuro Semantics of New Zealand (INSNZ) and a Board Member of the International Society of Neuro Semantics Guardian Group.

Colin is presently the only Master Trainer in the field of Neuro Semantics in the world and has complemented his expertise with strategies from the cognitive behavioural sciences and Accelerated learning methodologies.

Colin previously worked as the National Training Advisor for Work and Income (MSD) overseeing & delivering staff training across the country and was formerly the National Manager & Trainer of Trainers of the largest unemployment program in New Zealand.

Colin was formerly a triple NZ International sporting representative, and professional strength athlete having won multiple national titles in four different sports! Colin's sporting achievements coupled with his knowledge of Neuro Semantics and adult education provides him the ability to present a unique perspective in realising the potential that is latent in each of us.

Colin is an inspirational & highly sought after conference keynote speaker; trainer and executive coach. He has an international reputation for providing exceptional trainings which positively influences those he presents to.

He is personally committed to maximising the latent potential within people from all walks of life and dedicated his time and energies in delivering training & coaching that awakens people to realising their potential.