Maryan Street, MP

Maryan has worked with and for the New Zealand Labour Party since 1984 when she first joined.

Maryan stood for Parliament to advance the goals of equal opportunity and fairness, sustained and sustainable economic growth, security, safety, tolerance, respect and pride in ourselves as diverse New Zealanders.

Maryan brings additional experience in education, health, industrial relations, women's issues, housing, Treaty settlements, and rainbow issues to the Labour caucus.

"Working in Parliament representing the hopes and aspirations of the wide range of people who identify with Labour's vision and commitment is an important contribution to make".
